DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to Applicant's RCE, filed on 08/04/2005.
2. Claims 25-48 are pending

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 25-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Ishikawa et al (U.S. Pat. No. 6,628,817) in view of Graves et al (U.S. Pat. No. ,410,344).

As per claims 25-28 and 33-48 Ishikawa substantially discloses an inspection data signal analyzing system, comprising:

Assessing the quality of the content (or analyzing or monitoring data signal) of the preexisting independently created data using one or more predefined sets of criteria corresponding to a business (see., abstract, figs 2 and 5A- 5C, col 3, lines 22-41, col 6, lines 20-57). It is to be noted that Ishikawa fails to explicitly disclose the steps of assigning a grade indicative of the quality (or rating), wherein the receiver dynamically evaluates the marked grade or rate of the data to determine suitability for a particular subsequent use is a function of the marked grade and the particular subsequent use. However, Graves discloses a method/system for selecting audiovisual (or data signal) programs for presentation to a viewer. A neutral network process predicts the programs in which a viewer would have the highest interest by determining a grade and rate for each analyzed program (see., abstract, col 6, lines 17-52). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the inspection data signal of Ishikawa by including the limitation detailed above as taught by Graves because this would determine a manufacturing problem based on grading and rating.

Ishikawa and Graves fail to disclose Applicant's newly added limitation wherein said digital data having a plurality of data records. Randin discloses a digital data storage method/apparatus containing a plurality of data records for analyzing record data (see., abstract, col 1, lines 63-67, col 2, lines 16-22). It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the teachings of Ishikawa and Graves by including the limitation detailed above as taught by Brandin because this would determine associative relationships between records contained in devices.

As per claims 29-32 Ishikawa discloses the claimed method wherein the quality corresponds to a particular data field of the at least one data field, and a particular record of the at least record (see., abstract, specifically wherein said the data analysis station, the coordinates on which the disposition of the chips (or data field) are described on a product basis are equal to those on which the locations of the defects, col 3, lines 22-41, col 12, lines 33-47).

RESPONSE TO ARGUMENTS

5. Applicant's arguments filed on 09/02/2005 have been fully considered but they are moot in view of new ground (s) of rejection.
